

Ford Sees Oil Embargo As Possibility

ABOARD AIR FORCE ONE (AP) — President Ford says an embargo on foreign oil imports might be necessary to help solve the nation's energy problems. But he says it would take "an international crisis of major proportions" to convince him that wage and price controls were needed for the economy.

To improve national morale, Americans must overcome "self-destruct" feelings, Ford said.

"Somehow, we've gotten that attitude, that we're condemning ourselves so much. We're hurting ourselves when we should be doing just the opposite."

The President spoke for an hour in an exclusive interview with AP Special Correspondent Saul Pett a week ago tonight on the return trip from his visit to Mexico. In his shirtsleeves, tie loosened, Ford sipped bourbon and water at a table in his private compartment on Air Force One. It was his first interview since taking office 10 weeks ago.

The President: —Predicted his wobbly "marriage" with Congress would improve after the elections. "The leaders come from relatively safe districts or they aren't up for election," he said. "Everybody else is, and that makes a hell of a difference."

—Answered detailed questions about former President Richard M. Nixon's pardon, and said there was no "conceivable" way — "none whatsoever" — that Nixon's chief of staff could have gotten the impression Ford might favor a pardon.

—Came close to tears as he described his last, fateful meeting with then President Nixon, who thanked him "profusely" for defending him. Ford found himself at a loss for words. "He was strong ... What the hell do you say in those circumstances?"

Ford discussed energy and the economy in the same context.

Q. What would it take in the economy and energy situation to bring on those tougher measures you hinted at?

A. In energy we could really put an embargo on foreign imports which would have a much more severe impact on availability and supply.

Q. What would it take to do that?

A. The failure of the Congress or the public to respond. Congress, if it failed to increase supplies, and the public's failure to conserve.

Q. Are you philosophically opposed to wage and price controls as something to be used only as a last resort? What would persuade you they were necessary?

A. Outside of an international crisis of major proportions ...

Q. You see no reason to have them?

A. It has to be a very major international crisis ... I don't see anything domestically that would precipitate it.

He suggested that America's malaise has grown out of a vague masochism, not from the seeds of wrong policy or leaders who misled.

"The feeling that does worry me is this ... There is a self-destruct kind of feeling (among Americans). I don't point the finger at the press or anyone. But you look at it. It sort of started when they were giving Jack Kennedy hell. You know, in the last days before the assassination."

Q. They? The press?

A. Well, no. People in political life. I wouldn't say the press in that case, but there was high criticism of Kennedy. And then it began really in an uphill crescendo toward LBJ and they drove him out of office, literally. Then, there was sort of a hiatus with Nixon. Then, because of Watergate, it just burst forward ...

And that's what we've got to overcome. There is no reason why it should be. I don't blame the press. I don't blame partisanship. Somehow, we've gotten that attitude, that we're condemning ourselves so much. We're hurting ourselves when we should be doing just the opposite.

Ford said he was stunned when he learned on Aug. 1 from Gen. Alexander M. Haig, Nixon's chief of staff, about "startling" new Watergate evidence. "Are you ready to take over the presidency?" he said Haig asked him bluntly.

"I've got to talk to Mrs. Ford," he said he replied. "I think I ought to talk to Jim St. Clair (White House attorney)," who had listened to or read the transcripts of the critical June 23rd tape, he added.

But Ford said he was so stunned he couldn't tell his wife immediately. Instead, he went through the charade of looking at furniture with her for the vice president's house. "Then I went back to the office. Then I went home, and while we were changing clothes (for dinner), I said, 'Betty, the probability of us living in that house is very remote.' And I told her what had happened ..."

He said he did not consider Haig an emissary from Nixon, nor did he consider Haig's listing of the pardon among other options as a probe or a feeler. Ford said he made no specific response to the pardon option.

Q. Was there any kind of spontaneous, off-the-cuff, temporary sort of reaction on your part that could conceivably have left Haig with the impression that you might be favorable to a pardon?

A. None whatsoever. Ford declined to characterize how he viewed his predecessor — or to say how he explained Nixon's actions in his own mind. He said that during their last meeting, on Aug. 8, then President Nixon "was the most controlled person. I wondered how anybody could be that controlled ..."

Q. Did you have much to say?

A. No ... He thanked me profusely for defending him.

Ford struggled through a lengthy pause, seemed close to tears, then said: "He was strong ... What the hell do you say in those circumstances?"

Hunt Testimony Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — E. Howard Hunt Jr., foreman of the Watergate burglary team, is facing questioning in the Watergate cover-up trial from a prosecutor he claims has tried to get him to commit perjury.

Hunt, called to testify today, was the second witness in the trial of H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell, Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, all charged with conspiring to obstruct justice in the Watergate investigation.

The trial entered the fifth week today, and a session was being held even though it was Veterans Day, a federal holiday.

The government told U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica last week that Hunt had not been "entirely candid" with the grand jury and asked that he be called as a court witness, subject to cross-examination from both prosecution and defense.

"Even after being granted immunity, Mr. Hunt cooperated with the investigation only grudgingly and, we believe, incompletely," the government told Sirica.

The distrust was mutual. Richard Ben-Veniste, an assistant special prosecutor scheduled to question Hunt, was described by Hunt in a new book as "a curly-headed, abrasive young man," who "was actually encouraging me to perjure myself."

Hunt said Ben-Veniste had made him a special target and attempted to get him to change previously sworn testimony that he had never received an offer of executive clemency.

Hunt figures prominently in the list of overt acts that the government says led to the conspiracy by the five Nixon White House and campaign aides.

The government charges that Ehrlichman and others discussed the need to assure Hunt about how much time he would have to spend in jail and that Ehrlichman, Haldeman, Mitchell, and Parkinson were involved in arranging for hush money payments to Hunt.

The four defendants are charged with obstruction of justice in addition to the conspiracy count. Mardian is charged only with conspiracy.

The prosecutors charged that on March 21, 1973, after a demand for $120,000 by Hunt, Mitchell authorized a $75,000 payment to him and that on the following day Mitchell assured Ehrlichman that Hunt "was not a

Ohio Millionaire Named

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cherokee Indian Chief Little Fox says he would "like to go back to my people" some day. And with $1 million he'll be able to do it.

Little Fox is the Indian name for Omar Watts, 56, who walked off with the top prize Sunday in the Ohio Lottery Commission's first millionaire drawing at Thistledown race track.

He almost didn't make it into the exclusive group of 100 contestants for the big prize. The lottery commission disqualified Watts after he had been named a contestant, announcing that he did not have a valid ticket.

"We made an error at lottery headquarters," said Jim Skelly, public relations director for the commission, after Watts was picked for Sunday's finals.

"Wouldn't it be something if he won?"

Win he did as his horse, Grand Action, zoomed home a 2 1/4-length victor in the lottery's grand finale at Thistledown.

Curtis C. Towe, 38, of Cincinnati, a parking garage attendant, had the No. 2 horse, Beau Pez, winning $100,000, and Mary Ann Shumway of Parma won $50,000 with the third-place horse, Emory Jay.

Seven other finalists won $10,000 each.

The commission said all 100 contestants were on hand for the countdown at Thistledown, and all went home with at least $1,000. Ten of them also collected $1,000 bonuses in a supplemental drawing.

Watts said he plans to stay in Ohio for a while, at least, to spend "some of the money in the state where I won it."

He gets $50,000 a year for 20 years, and a commission official announced that in case any winner doesn't live long enough to collect the entire amount it will go to his heirs.

Watts said he has had three heart attacks. Then he added, a smile breaking the deep lines on his tanned face, "maybe the money will help it (his heart) run right."

One reason he wants to stay in Ohio, he said, is "there are some friends I want to help — people who helped me."

Watts is a night watchman at Valchek Plastics in Middlefield. He also has a lawnmower repair business, which he said a Valchek executive helped him start.

He and his wife have seven children.

Watts was the third number drawn from the hopper as the finalists were picked Sunday. Lottery officials selected 10 numbered balls before the racing program started, and revealed the numbers one-by-one between races.

First to have her name drawn was 19-year-old Betty Jakubic of Midway, near St. Clairsville, whose husband is a dust control environmentalist in the Y&O No. 2 coal mine.

Other finalists who won $10,000 included Madeleine Graybill, 53, of North Canton, a secretary whose ESCAPED INJURY—Nineteen-year-old William R. Halstenberg, 1570 N. Court St., escaped serious injury, in a single-car accident, 12:15 a.m. Sunday. Halstenberg's car went off the right side of the road, rolled onto its side and came to a halt, completely wrapped around an electric pole. He told Sheriff's authorities he fell asleep. He was treated and released from Berger Hospital with lacerations and abrasions.

9-Year-Old Boy Struck By Auto

Six persons received injuries in weekend accidents investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies.

Nine-year-old Tony D. Smith, Route 2, Williamsport, is reported in fair condition, at Children's Hospital, with abrasions and contusions to the skull and body, when he was hit by a car, 2:45 p.m. Saturday.

Helen K. Lowery, 26, 1258 Norfolk Ave., was driving east on Route 22 just outside of Williamsport, when the Smith boy began to cross the highway.

Ms. Lowery, applying the brakes, skidded before striking the child in the eastbound lane.

He was treated at Berger Hospital before being transferred to Children's Hospital.

William R. Halstenberg, 19, 1570 N. Court St., was treated and released from Berger Hospital for a laceration to the left hand and abrasions, when he was involved in a single-car accident, 12:15 a.m. Sunday.

According to the report taken by Deputy J. Philip Brown, Halstenberg, driving east on Route 188, drove off the right side of the road, striking a fence. The auto rolled onto the driver's side coming to rest completely wrapped around an electric pole.

Halstenberg told authorities he fell asleep.

Deputy Brown is still investigating the accident.

Roger D. Spradlin, 19, Derby, was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital, West, Columbus, for shoulder and back injuries sustained in a single-car accident, 10 a.m. Sunday.

According to a report taken by Deputy Billy Huffman, Spradlin was southbound on the Circleville-London-Northern Road when he failed to negotiate a curve.

The auto came to rest after striking a telephone pole.

No citation was issued.

A charge of driving left of center was issued to Norman H. Rowland, 60, Route 1, Orient, when he was involved in a two-car accident, 11:20 a.m. Saturday.

Richard L. Green, 26, Route 4,

London, was traveling south on the Circleville-London-Northern Road, when Rowland, northbound on the same highway, went left of center, striking Green's vehicle head-on.

Rowland received minor injuries in the incident.

Deputy Billy Huffman investigated the wreck.

Deputy Dan Dewey cited thirty-seven-year-old Donald E. Minor, Route 1, Kingston, for failure to drive on the right side of the highway, in a two-car accident, 11:15 a.m. Saturday.

Minor, southbound on Jackson Road, and Raymond R. Reichelderfer, 50, Route 4, were entering a curve at the same time when Minor went left of center.

To avoid a collision, Reichelderfer went off the right berm, but was sideswiped by Minor.

No injuries were reported.

Robert L. Smith, 25, Adelphi, was cited, by Deputy Dan Dewey, for passing within 100-feet of an intersection, when he was involved in a car-cycle accident, 2 p.m. Sunday.

Charles Glen Kerns, 61, Route 1, was northbound on Route 56, three car-lengths ahead of Smith, also northbound.

Smith began passing the vehicles, on a double yellow line, when Kerns, attempted to make a left turn onto the Hayesville-Adelphi Road.

Smith applied his brakes, which locked, and dumped the cycle on its right side, avoiding an accident.

He was treated and released from Berger Hospital for multiple abrasions and contusions to the arms, chest and abdomen.

Twenty-four-year-old Deena M. Hicks, Circleville, was cited for driving left of center, when she failed to signal when making a left turn, causing a two-car accident, 6 p.m. Sunday.

Donald G. Sanders, 31, Bell Brook, northbound on Route 22, was attempting to pass Ms. Hicks, when she proceeded to make the left turn.

Ms. Hicks hit Sanders vehicle forcing it off the road into a ditch.

She was referred to doctor for a pain in the side.

Deputy Huffman issued the citation.

husband, Aaron, is a Republic Steel Corp. furnace operator; Don Franks, 31, of Mogador, an auditor with the Portage National Bank; William Menges, 76, a retired U.S. Steel Corp. worker from Sheffield Lake; Janice L. Gray, 21, of Dayton, a secretary at Handy Man Home Center; George J. Hlebak, 38, of Solon, a roofer for Norton Brothers Co., and Charles E. Robbins, 34, of Troy, a laborer with Brown Bridge paper mill.

Menges' wife, Lena, said the prize will mean a dream come true for her and her husband. Clutching a St. Anthony medal in her hand, Mrs. Menges said she and her husband had "always wanted to go to California, but we never had enough money."

Now they plan to make the trip. Mrs. Menges said her husband also had a St.

Anthony medal, which a former pastor at their church in Lorain had brought back from Rome.

"He's carried it ever since he won the $20," she said.

The contestants all were picked from the lottery's pool of $20 winners.

Also considering a trip was Robbins, who said he and his wife, Phyllis may "go to Texas."

Towe, who is divorced, said he planned to spend his winnings "on my children." He has three children and "that's where all my money goes," he said.

Mrs. Jakubic wasn't sure what she and her husband, Andrew, would do with the money. Her first reaction was, "It's a birthday present."

Sunday was her husband's 21st birthday.

John Reid Resigns As Administrator Of Berger Hospital

Berger Hospital Administrator John Reid today officially accepted the position as administrator of the Fairfield County Hospital, Lancaster, effective Jan. 1, 1975. Speaking on behalf of the Berger Hospital Board of Governors, Mayor Frank Barnhill said it is with deep regret that the board will accept his resignation.

Reid said in a letter to the board that it was not an easy decision for him to leave Berger Hospital. He expressed his appreciation for the support the board has given him and the support the community has given to both him as an administrator and the hospital.

The community was cited for its interest and support in the building project and Reid said his deepest regret in leaving Berger was that he will not be able to see his dream of the new hospital facility to its completion.

The building program which is now in progress is only one of the major changes which have taken place during the administration of John Reid. Barnhill said since Reid came to Berger Hospital in August of 1970, the hospital had been accredited for the first time with the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. The establishment of an emergency room staffed by active physicians is also to the credit of Reid's administration. Berger is one of the first small town hospitals in central Ohio to have an emergency room facility with this type coverage.

Employees wages and benefits have been another major concern of the administration. Since Reid came to Berger hospital, a more realistic approach has been taken in upgrading the benefits for the hospital employees.

The hospital operated in the black during the first year of Reid's tenure and has been on the same sound financial basis since that time. Barnhill said the present status of the hospital is reflected through the effective operation of the hospital in its profits and loss statements.

Phase I of the dream-come-true building program will be completed by the middle of 1975. The institution of the project came about through the ceaseless efforts of the administrator.

The board will be seeking someone to carry on the duties as hospital administrator.

Reid returned to his home town area from Louisville, Ky., where he was associate administrator of the St. Joseph's Infirmary. He was originally

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market dropped back in slow trading today amid recession worries heightened by a barrage of gloomy news from the auto industry.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 8.06 at 628.13, and losers led gainers by more than 2-to-1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers described the decline as a reaction to General Motors' report late Friday of sharply lower third-quarter earnings and word of new layoff plans from Chrysler and Ford.

Benguet Consolidated Mining class B was the most-active NYSE issue, down 1/4 at 3 in a 125,000-share block trade.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index slipped .27 to 67.09.

The Big Three automakers' stocks were all high on the active list, with GM down 1 at 32 3/4, Ford off 3/4 at 29 3/4, and Chrysler down 1/2 at 9 3/4.

The continued rise of bullion prices in Europe benefited precious-metals issues. ASA, Ltd., was up 3/8 at 86 1/2, Homestake Mining added 2 3/4 to 48 1/2, Dome Mines was ahead 2 1/2 at 55 1/2, and Hecla Mining rose 3/8 to 18 3/4.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index fell .36 to 36.71.

Houston Oil & Mineral was the Amex volume leader, up 5/8 at 25 1/2.

Gilligan Hedges On Tax Stand

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democratic Gov. John Gilligan appeared to hedge on his previous no new taxes stand Sunday during an appearance before a group of editors and publishers.

The governor told the fall meeting of The Associated Press Society of Ohio in Cincinnati he could carry on his programs during a second term "within the present revenue structures," if inflationary pressures moderate.

But, Gilligan added, "if we are still caught next spring in the raging grips of inflation, all bets are off."

Just last Friday Gilligan emphatically told a Columbus news conference, "I am not advocating any increases in taxes of any kind. Period. That's it."

Gilligan again called upon his Republican challenger, former Gov. James Rhodes, to disclose his personal financial records and to make public complete lists of contributors to his campaign.

And he criticized Rhodes for not accepting the AP society's invitation to appear jointly with Gilligan at the meeting.

Gilligan made no mention of an Akron Beacon Journal copyrighted story Sunday that said Rhodes "tapped his political campaign fund at least 14 times for money to defray his personal expenses" during the 1960s.

While part of the transactions were reported by a national magazine in 1969, the Beacon Journal said it had obtained a more detailed breakdown of the controversial loans.

Veterans Service Officer Explains Insurance Act

According to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, the recently enacted Veterans Insurance Act of 1974 expanded coverage under Servicemen's Group Life Insurance (SGLI) which is available to veterans separated on or after April 3, 1970.

The Insurance Act of 1974, Shea said, is extremely complicated, but basically does the following: Increases the maximum amount of insurance of $20,000; grants full-time SGLI coverage for members of the Ready Reserve; grants full-time SGLI coverage for those persons assigned to, or who upon application would be eligible for assignment to the Retired Reserve and have not received the first increment of retired pay, or have not reached 61 years of age and have completed at least 20 years of satisfactory service creditable for retired purposes; establishes a new program of insurance known as Veterans Government Life Insurance (VGLI) which is a five-year nonrenewable term policy.

At the end of the term period, the Service Officer said, the veteran has a

It said Rhodes withdrew at least $54,982 from his campaign funds between 1954 and 1957 and to date has repaid only $36,000 of it.

The funds were used for such personal purchases as a home, a new auto, clothing and travel expenses, the newspaper said. At least $12,000 was used to help pay the former governor's federal income taxes, the newspaper added.

Rhodes could not be reached Sunday for comment on the article. The newspaper said he had not responded to its requests for comment.

Rhodes' press aide, James Duerk, said the revival of the charges was a "plumbers" trick, referring to Rhodes' assertion earlier this year that the Gilligan administration had "unleashed a corps of investigators to dig up dirt on its opposition."

Gilligan has denied the Rhodes charge.

Rhodes told a Cleveland audience Sunday he has set as a minimum goal the creation of 320,000 new jobs if he is elected. He said he will work to restore a bold and imaginative industrial and economic development program.

Rhodes said his philosophy of increasing the productivity of the Ohio economy is "directly opposite of the tax and spend philosophy" of the Gilligan administration.

"You don't create more and better jobs by driving commerce and industry from Ohio with punitive taxes," Rhodes said. "And if such taxes do not drive out industry, they halt expansion of existing industry."

right to convert such VGLI Insurance to an individual policy with any one of the participating companies, and the conversion privilege at the end of the term period is identical to that which existed under the prior law and applies to all VGLI coverage.

It is to be remembered, Shea continued, that under this new Insurance Act, VGLI has no cash, loan, paid-up, or extended insurance value.

According to Shea, the new insurance (VGLI) is available only to the following classification of veterans: Individuals being released from active duty or active duty from training under call or order to duty that does not specify a period of less than 31 days; Reservists who, while performing active duty or active duty for training under a call or order specifying a period of less than 31 days; all eligible persons who were separated or released from service on or after April 3, 1970 and before Aug. 1, 1974, the date the new Insurance Act became effective; and to active duty members, separated on or after Aug. 1, 1974, who had SGLI at the time of separation or release.

Veterans who have questions concerning this insurance should contact James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, in his office, in the basement of the Court House.

from the Laureville area where his parents still live and is a graduate of Laureville High School. He received his bachelor of science degree from the Ohio State University and his masters degree from George Washington University in Washington, D.C.

As his letter to the board expressed, Reid said again that he really did not want to leave Berger but thought there comes a time when every administrator should move on and give another administration's new ideas a chance.

Thinking management can stay too long in any position be it hospital or other fields, Reid said he felt sure the move was good for both himself and the hospital. He also feels sure the board of governors will find a well-qualified replacement.

Reid will succeed past administrator of Fairfield County Hospital Walter Stewart. Presently, the hospital has an acting administrator who is the director of nursing.

In the larger hospital, Reid said he will be given a greater challenge and he considers the move strictly promotional. His letter of resignation to the board concluded with the statement that he felt he would be a more effective administrator in his new position primarily because of the experience gained at Berger Hospital.

Coliseum Opening Disastrous

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— "A hell of a show" is what Arthur Rosen of Beachwood called it, waving two $25 tickets for Saturday's opening of the Coliseum in nearby Richfield Township.

Rosen and his wife never got to hear Frank Sinatra, who helped inaugurate the $20 million entertainment palace. The "show" was the miles of bumper-to-bumper autos that stacked up on Interstate 271 and Ohio 303, the major roads leading to the Coliseum.

"It was utter chaos, a damn-near disaster," said Maj. Howard Taylor of the Summit County sheriff's office. "I don't know what (Coliseum chairman Nick) Meleti's going to do, but we cannot and will not tolerate again the blocking of roads ...," said Lt. James Debevic, commander of the Ohio Highway Patrol's Akron post.

By 8:30 p.m., the I-271 interchange at 303 was closed. Hundreds of cars were parked on the shoulders of both roads as drivers took off through the fields for the Coliseum, Taylor said.

Cars abandoned on the exit ramps were towed, authorities said.

Taylor and Debevic agreed much of the trouble stemmed from inexperienced attendants at Coliseum parking lots.

Open Letter

Dear Friends,

An acquaintance of mine recently said, "I just can't seem to bring myself to make a personal call of sympathy when my friends are in sorrow. I never seem to know what to say."

We know that it isn't necessary to say anything. The "gift" of your presence speaks for itself. Friends mean more than you realize to a family during a time of bereavement. The fact that you share in their grief is an act of compassion.

Respectfully,

Mader Funeral Home

CENTRAL MARK-UP—Circleville postal workers mark-up a stack of mail on which change of address labels must be placed so it can be forwarded to the proper receiver. Working on the stack are, from the left, Larry Pritchard, Forrest Hopkins and Jay White, postmaster.

The Circleville post office, along with other post offices in the Columbus district, is now part of the Centralized Mark-Up System.

This system provides a printed, pressure-sensitive label containing the new address that is attached close to but not covering the old address on forwardable mail. Jay White, postmaster at Circleville, explained.

When anyone moves and submits a change of address to their local post office, the change is recorded on a form provided for this purpose for 90 days. The change of address card is returned to the supervisor to be placed in a group with others and sent daily to the label printing unit at Columbus. The labels are printed at night and returned the next morning so they can be placed on mail that is forwarded due to change of address.

A change of address is good for one year only. The change of address cards are retained for another year for records purpose only; not for forwarding mail.

warding mail. At the end of one year the forwarding labels are withdrawn and destroyed. If the address has not been corrected at the end of one year, first class and air mail are returned to the sender endorsed "Undeliverable As Addressed."

"It is the responsibility of the addressee to supply the correct address to correspondents and places of business with which they deal" White emphasized. "The only way for business places, friends and relatives to get a correct address without paying for it is to make sure you supply it to them after you move."

A correct address will be supplied by the Post Office if the endorsement "Address Correction Requested" is placed under the return address by the sender. This service will cost the sender ten cents for the correct address, if available. For further information on this service, contact the local post office.

The customer receiving mail through the post office box section should have it addressed to their box by the box number. If either the home or business address is desired on the mail along with the box number it should be as follows: John Doe, 1000 Still Avenue, Box 1000, Anytown, Ohio, 43113. This is called a dual address and is perfectly legal. The point is to address it so the delivery point immediately precedes the city portion of the address. We will place a piece of literature in each post office box to help explain this type address the day after this appears in the local paper.

"All of us at your local post office would like to have good legible addresses on all mail. It does not require as much time to deliver a piece of mail as it does to mark it up and return it to the sender," White stated.

A Page Of Opinion

'Outdoor' Offices

If the architecture of a certain new skyscraper office building in Boston points the way, some bizarre effects may be in store for office workers of the future.

The building's opening was postponed nearly four years while designers figured out what to do about glass panels which covered the outside of the 60-story building and showed a propensity for breaking under wind stress.

Another unique feature of the building is a sound system which produces a steady hum and makes conversation inaudible beyond 14 feet. That was thought to be necessary because of the "open space" office concept.

To further insure privacy and also act as traffic controllers, 3,000 plants of varying sizes will be placed strategically around the inside of the building, requiring several fulltime caretakers. The purpose is to create an office environment with an outdoor atmosphere.

If the windows continue caving in, the elements will make it all very convincing.

Guidelines For Serenity

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — The Christophers, Inc., is a nondenominational movement operated by the Maryknoll missionaries, a Roman Catholic order. It distributes a free monthly newsletter and produces television and radio features. Under the direction of a good-natured priest named Richard Armstrong, successor to the nationally renowned founder, James Keller, M.M., it's the softest religious "sell" discernible to the eye.

Its name comes from the Greek "Christophoros," meaning "Christ-bearer." Its aim is to encourage everyone to show a personal responsibility and individual initiative in raising the standards of all phases of human endeavor, especially in government, education, labor-management relations, literature and entertainment. Its Confucian motto is "Better to light one candle than to curse the darkness." It also tries to be a road map to tranquility, of which most of us are in short supply.

Its current "News Notes" casts an approving eye on the therapy of meditation, not regarded generally as a preoccupation of Catholics. For example:

"Za-Zen is an ancient Buddhist form of meditation. The name means 'just sitting.' Adopt an alert, seated posture. Then, simply sit, paying special attention to rhythmic breathing. If thoughts come to mind, they are observed and noted. But return quickly to concentrating on sitting and breathing. The inner tranquility that Za-Zen makes possible may give rise to flashes of intuition. Note them in your journal for use outside the time of meditation."

More on same:
"Japanese monks who follow the Zen system of meditation gather in halls constructed just for that purpose. Most of us don't have meditation halls. But anyone can find a quiet place. This explanation of Jesus' own practice of seeking solitude is offered by Father Henri Nouwen:

"When you are able to create a lonely place in the middle of your actions and concerns, your successes and failures slowly can lose some of their power over you. For then, your love for this world can merge with a compassionate understanding of its illusions. Let us therefore live our lives to the fullest, but let us not forget to leave the house once in a while and go to a lonely place."

Much is made of breathing:
"Adelaide Gardner, a long-time student of meditation, writes 'A valuable concentration exercise is to count the breaths, breathing easily, but as slowly as can be maintained without physical strain. The mind is merely to be kept on the normal act of breathing and the breaths counted up to ten and then up to ten again. When 30 breaths can be counted without any other thought except that of breathing, something about concentration of attention has been mastered."

Other techniques:
"Candle exercise — Concentration is a very basic form of meditation. It is an acquired skill. One way to develop it is through our sense of sight. Light a candle, then for a few moments carefully observe everything you possibly can about the flame — its patterns, texture, movements, etc.

"Then close your eyes and try to picture the flame as vividly as you can. Open your eyes and repeat the process until the flame and its movements become firmly fixed in your imagination.

"Music exercise — This approach uses our sense of hearing to develop our concentration. Sit perfectly still and listen to some quiet music. Every time the mind strays, bring it back gently to the music. After you have finished the exercise, make note of the 'distractions.' Often they are actually insights that have been able to surface once the troubled waters of the mind have been calmed. The outer harmony of music can set in motion the inner harmony of our being.

"Communion with Nature — Walk around outside until you find something that holds your attention — a flower, a bird, a stone, a tree. Quietly study its every detail. Try to feel what the object must be like from the inside; to be a leaf fluttering in the breeze, or a bird observing you, instead of vice versa.

"Scripture reading: Select a book of the Bible for a series of daily meditations. Slowly read a short passage — aloud if possible. Remain in silence for a few moments. Your mind will begin to associate what you read with concerns that are important in your daily life . . . According to a traditional Jewish method, as you reflect on the reading, imagine you are one of the characters in the Biblical story. For example, picture yourself with Moses on Mount Sinai. Climb the mountain with him, try to feel as he felt when he encountered the Holy One of Israel and become the law-giver of the Hebrew people."

Touche all bases, this no-dues Christopher movement that flows from 12 East 48th Street, New York City, 10017.

Brown-Celeste Race Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Richard F. Celeste, Democratic challenger for lieutenant governor, apparently will spend three times the amount of money his opponent, Republican Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, plans to spend—much of it to get his name known to the public.

Relative anonymity, that's the big jump for young politicians challenging veteran incumbents.

Brown said he feels he already is well-known, having served in the office 16 years over a period dating to 1952.

Celeste, two-term member of the Ohio House, is making his first bid for statewide office.

The 36-year-old Cleveland Democrat said his backers hope to raise the $159,000 limit set by this year's new campaign financing law. About 40 per cent is earmarked for radio and television, the remainder for printed materials and staff.

By contrast, the 60-year-old incumbent said he will realize "about $50,000 tops" and is spending the bulk of it for signs, bumper stickers and other visual materials.

"We may buy a little radio and television time late in the campaign if we think it is needed," Brown said.

Brown spent only about $11,000 getting himself elected by 150,000 votes in 1970 when Democrats, including Gov. John J. Gilligan, claimed four of six statewide offices.

Gilligan defeated former GOP auditor Roger Cloud by 350,000 votes.

Celeste has a well-organized campaign, sharing with Gilligan's reelection forces a network of volunteer offices and staffs in about 50 of the 88 counties.

"We have a fine organization,"

Celeste said.

Brown is relying on established GOP machinery built locally around precinct captains who try to see that Republicans get to the polls—a must if the GOP is to win any statewide victory.

Celeste has "an organized plan for victory" that befits his Ivy League background. He has set county vote quotas designed to build a statewide margin of at least 75,000 over his opponent.

The Clevelander predicted that John Glenn, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, will win by "a million votes" and that Gilligan will get another four-year term by a margin of more than 250,000.

"That's a lot of pull from the top," Celeste said.

Brown said he plans to wind up his campaign "as I always have, meeting and talking to people."

The lieutenant governor said that unlike some politicians he doesn't wait until an election approaches to begin campaigning.

"I've never stopped campaigning," he said.

An accomplished public speaker who was picked to deliver the keynote address at this year's Republican State Convention, Brown has spent years collecting I.O.U.'s in Ohio's political subdivisions where he has helped countless local GOP candidates.

Celeste is telling voters he intends to make the lieutenant governor's post a full-time job, charging that Brown has "done nothing" in the years he has held it.

Brown said he has spent more time presiding over the Ohio Senate, the only duty the constitution spells out for him, than any predecessor throughout history.

Even his foes acknowledge that as fact.

State law provides that the governor may appoint the lieutenant governor to the cabinet or to any of a number of boards and commissions. Brown was chairman of the Governor's Committee on Interstate Cooperation until Gilligan became governor.

"He removed me from that job as soon as he found out I held it," the GOP incumbent said.

Court Rejects Lengthy Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has ruled an Ohio county prosecutor's legal brief, containing 108 pages of legal argument and a 500-page appendix, was not brief enough.

In refusing to accept the appeal documents submitted by Allen County Prosecutor Lawrence S. Huffman, the court cited a rule requiring that all briefs be "concise and free from burdensome, irrelevant, immaterial and scandalous matter."

Huffman was given until Nov. 11 to submit a briefer brief.

Huffman is asking the court to reverse a decision barring him from closing down a Lima movie theater as a public nuisance.

Gem Of Egypt Slated For New Location

CADIZ, Ohio (AP)—Consolidation Coal Co. said Friday its 14-ton, 20-story Gem of Egypt surface mining shovel will begin moving earth and digging for coal in the Mahoning Valley in Harrison County after the first of the year.

The giant earthmover now is in the process of moving from Holloway in Belmont County to Georgetown in Harrison County, where it will remain for several years, the company said.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I had an ectopic pregnancy and lost the child. Could this have been the result of having had X-ray studies of my intestines shortly before I knew I was pregnant?

Mrs. S. O., R.I.

Dear Mrs. O.:
There is no relationship between an ectopic pregnancy and X-ray studies of the intestines.

An ectopic pregnancy is a relatively rare condition in which the female egg is fertilized by the male sperm in the tube leading from the ovary to the womb.

In normal pregnancies, this fertilization occurs in the womb (uterus), becomes embedded in the wall and continues to grow there.

When pregnancy occurs in the narrow fallopian tube there is no room for normal expansion as the fetus grows. Within a few weeks after the onset of pregnancy abdominal pains and other symptoms may become evident, requiring termination of the pregnancy — usually by operation.

The major causes of ectopic pregnancy are adhesions following infection, an anatomical kinking of the tube, or some congenital abnormality.

Women who have had one ectopic pregnancy need not necessarily have another in subsequent pregnancies.

Beauticians

By JIM BISHOP

My old man had the foot doctor come in to chop his toenails. The fee was $15 and Pop flew into a rage and demanded his nails back. Long ago, when haircuts hopped from 75 cents to a buck, he asked me to do the work for nothing.

I snipped as he sat looking into a bathroom mirror. No matter how hard I tried, one side was always higher than the other. It tilted his head, so I used the electric shears on the other side. The final result was reminiscent of the Iroquois, but Big John was nearsighted and murmured approvingly, "Son, you shoulda been a barber."

He's gone, and I'm left with an assortment of ladies who are addicted to hair and face. Mrs. B. spends hours at the beauty parlor. Whatever she does requires time. She comes home with a lot of juicy gossip, but the hair appears to be just as blonde and sometimes as stiff as though her finger were in an electric socket.

Kathi wanders around her cell with hot electric curlers screwed into her head. When Karen completes her blue eyelids and lipstick and the rest of it, I could press a towel to her face and get a portrait akin to Veronica's veil.

Women spend billions for beauty. As Deborah Haber points out in New York magazine, many of them endure exercises which leave no stern untuned. Ms. Haber says that all the chic beauticians are now making house calls. This is great for ladies who arise looking like Haitian Voodooos.

Experts will glue your eyelashes on for a fee. Sebou, whose salon is on East 68th Street in Manhattan, is an Iranian who will give your husband a haircut for $40 while giving you a cut, wash and blow-dry job for $20.

Suga will bring his bag of goodies to your apartment for $25 an hour, but, even if he snips but one cuticle, the fee is never less than $25. He also wants taxi fare both ways. De Vega will run his sensitive fingers through a lady's scalp for $75, giving her an herbal shampoo and a haircut.

It is difficult to surpass the services of Way Bandy. For a lousy $100, he will visit you at home, do your makeup, apply eyelashes one by one, give you the inside lowdown on facial exercises, skin treatments, dental cosmetics, plastic surgery, and tell you what to wear. Bandy works six days a week. "Never on Sunday."

Haber says that Gloria Natale can make a new woman of you. This pains

Yet the chances must be considered if the underlying cause has not been removed.

To return to the question of X-rays. More and more doctors and specialists in obstetrics are avoiding the use of X-rays during the first months of pregnancy. This attitude is closely related to the relatively few drugs they prescribe during this period.

Unless there is an urgent need, the feeling is that Mother Nature should best be left alone to carry on her wonders unimpeded by drugs, X-rays and other techniques that might hamper the normal, healthy progress of pregnancy.

The fact that your pregnancy was terminated and the fallopian tube removed by surgery undoubtedly makes you seek some casual relationship between something "you had done" and the unhappy experience.

Let me again reassure you that the intestinal X-ray studies were not a factor in this experience.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . .

Fever is a normal reaction of the body. It should alert one to the need for medical examination to find out why this body defense was called into action.

me because I'm just getting used to the old one. She'll even teach you how to make up your own face, depending upon who you would like to be on a given day. Archie Bunker, anybody?

There is a man named Stan Place who, for $100, can reduce the suitcases under your eyes to change purses. He obliterates those dreadful diagonal lines. He can even suntan you if you're in the mood to be tanned. One thing irritates Stan: poor lighting in your apartment.

You may want your legs defuzzed. Gina Chenko will do it with warm wax. Up to the knee is $20; whoops is $30. Moi, a chinese lady whose name rhymes with oy!, will trim your fingernails for $14. She's heavy on the wax works and will give you her bikini special for $40. If your hormones are whacked out and you're growing a mustache, Moi will make it disappear for $10.

Everything has a price—right? Gisella Varga will give you a one hour massage (ladies only) for $15. If you order 10, she'll give you one rub on the house.

Men, who are hairy goats, must pay Axel Stolt $20 an hour. He'll flip your flab on his table for a couple of treatments. After that, he expects you to spring for your own.

Perhaps the most incredible, to me, is Joseph Rottenburger. He specializes in calisthenics and massage. It is said that Mr. Rottenburger showed the Queen Mother of Great Britain how to do pushups, and gave her a rubdown. But what the heck — he's been rubbing the editor of Vogue for 40 years. He sounds like an old smoothy.

A few weeks ago, I saw my kisser on the cover of The Miami Herald's Tropic magazine. Believe me, brethren and sistern, and automobile jack couldn't do anything for that kisser. I would be happy to call any of the massage magicians, but if they lifted this face I would have to remove my hat to brush my teeth . . .

"Zombie" Married To A Hypocrite?

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago, after 26 years of marriage, I found out that my husband had been unfaithful to me.

He is a very special personkind, honest, friendly, and very active in our church. He travels some, and this infidelity occurred when he was away from home.

Since this happened, I haven't been myself. I feel like a zombie. I am playing instead of saying the things I really want to say to him.

I love him very much, and thought he loved me, too, but if he did, how could this have happened? I've searched my thoughts trying to understand where I failed him, but I haven't been able to come up with an answer.

When I see him praying in church every Sunday I wonder how he can be such a hypocrite. Please help me.

STILL HURTING

State Subsidy Payments Made

A total of $183,845.05 in state subsidy school payments have been made this month from State Auditor Joseph P. Ferguson's office.

Of this amount, Circleville City School District received $60,228.83; Logan Elm Local School District, $38,017.46; Teays Valley Local School District, $48,473.07; Westfall Local School District, $37,125.69.

A direct allotment to the county board amounted to $7,065.49 which brought the total amount paid to the county board to $14,450.16.

State School Foundation subsidy payments are sent to the 88 county auditors who distribute the amounts due the districts within the respective counties.

"know" your husband was unfaithful. How can you be sure unless he admits it? Have you asked him? If you haven't, do. If he denies it, believe him. If he admits it, then ask him why he felt the need to stray, but don't be disappointed if he can't answer that question.

We don't always know the reasons for our actions. Clear the air. Quit torturing yourself with doubts. And don't prejudge him. A church isn't a museum for saints—it's a hospital for sinners. (Let he who is without sin cast the first stone.)

DEAR ABBY: I am planning my wedding and need an opinion from someone outside my family.

My parents are divorced and I have lived with my mother since early childhood. She has been a wonderful mother not only to me but to my brothers and sisters. She always thought of her children first.

My father contributed nothing to my upbringing. Not even the child support the court ordered him to pay. I didn't respect him when I was a child, and I still don't.

Although I think the tradition of the bride's father "giving away" his daughter is beautiful, I want my mother to give me away instead.

What do you think of such an odd switch? Do I dare suggest it?

MAMMA'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: It's your wedding, and I see no reason why your mother shouldn't give you away if that's what you want. Tell whomever will officiate at your wedding about your wishes. It makes sense to me. (P.S. I once attended a lovely wedding where, in response to the clergyman's question, "Who gives this woman in marriage?", the mother and father replied in unison, "We do!")

DEAR ABBY: I like the way you remind your readers to be a little more patient with their elderly parents.

My mother is an 88-year-old widow who doesn't need any extra patience as yet, and I doubt if she ever will.

She reads and writes in seven languages, and proof-reads the Hebrew lettering for marble tombstones. Mom owns a duplex. She lives downstairs, alone, and rents the upstairs to a 92-year-old retired sea captain named Jack. Jack is bright, alert and sharp as a tack.

The other day when my brother Dave was visiting our mother, in his cute and kidding way he said, "Ma, what's this I hear about you fooling around with Jack?"

With a twinkle in her eye, Mom shot back, "Don't worry, son, I'm on the pill!"

OU-L Offers Think Metric Seminar

A seminar, "Think Metric" will be offered at the Lancaster Campus of Ohio University starting Nov. 5. The seminar will continue on Tuesday evenings for a total of four sessions and twelve hours of instruction. The seminar has been designed to introduce the class participants to the new metric standards that will be used when the United States converts to the Metric System.

Topics to be discussed in the program include: the history and rationale for the standard international (SI) system, a review of arithmetic operations needed for conversion, the SI system and its rules for use, metric computations, and conversion techniques.

Enrollment in the seminar will be limited to 28 persons. Registration can be completed at the Office of Continuing Education, Lancaster Campus, or reservation for a place in the class can be made by calling 654-6711, ext. 27.

Writing Stipends Available

Ohio University has six scholarships available to high school seniors entering in September, 1975 who have already shown ability in creative writing.

The scholarship, for entering freshmen only, will carry a stipend of $480 per year, renewable each year of the four-year program.

To apply for the creative writing scholarships, students must be sponsored by a high school English department or a professional writers' organization and must submit three poems or one fiction manuscript for consideration at Ohio University.

Members of the University's creative writing faculty, including published poets, novelists and short story writers, will judge the applicants' entries.

Ohio University's creative writing program consists of an English major including courses, workshops and independent study in the writing of fiction, non-fiction and poetry.

Deadline for submission of manuscripts is Jan. 20, 1975.

Applications may be obtained from James N. Schmidt, Creative Writing Program, English Department, Ohio University, Athens, Ohio 45701.

Check Food Poisoning

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Health officials today were investigating an apparent food poisoning that sent more than 70 persons to hospitals after a Sunday night church supper.

An estimated 100 persons became ill after the annual Women's Day festival at Merrill Baptist Church.

Cincinnati Health Department inspector Al Olverson said contaminated baked ham may have been the source.

General Hospital received 25 sick persons, then issued word it could not handle any more. Fifteen children were treated at Children's Hospital.

One child, 3-year-old Harvey McCollum, was hospitalized in fair condition.

The Rev. Melvin T. Jones, pastor of the church, said more than 100 attended the dinner.

Jones said the food was purchased at several Cincinnati supermarkets.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Parker, a businessman, was systematically cheating on his income taxes. One day his conscience-stricken bookkeeper took several incriminating documents out of Parker's safe and handed them over to the Internal Revenue Service.

In short order, Parker was charged with income tax evasion. But in court he insisted that the evidence, having been taken illegally, could not be used against him.

"This clearly falls under the Fourth Amendment," he said, "which forbids unreasonable search and seizure."

However, the court held the evidence admissible and Parker guilty. The court said the constitutional ban applies only to searches by government agents, not by private individuals.

Courts generally agree. They say the Fourth Amendment was designed to protect citizens from prying by the government, nothing more. Although the private searcher may indeed be committing an offense, the evidence that he finds remains acceptable.

The same is true if the evidence is discovered purely by accident. In another case, a departing guest in a motel left a suitcase in his room. The manager, peeking into the suitcase, noticed some odd-looking checks. These he reported to the police.

Result: the guest was arrested for possessing forged checks. The judge said that even though the manager had no right to look into the suitcase, the evidence he found was nevertheless admissible in court.

But the rule changes when the search, although conducted by a private person, is done at police instigation. Another motel manager told a policeman that he suspected one of his guests of being a drug pusher. Instructed to search the man's room, he did so — and found heroin.

But this time, the evidence was rejected in court because of the police role in the search.

"The search was just as 'official,'" said the court, "as though the officer had acted in person."

Set Holiday Lottery

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Ohio Lottery Commission is planning a special holiday game to offset an expected lag in lottery ticket sales during the Christmas and New Year's holiday period.

Lottery officials wouldn't give details at Friday's commission meeting. However, Commission Chairman David Leahy said it will be a "small adaptation of the present game."

The commission agreed to beef up its security staff with two or three persons to investigate ticket thefts and fraudulent claims for prizes.

William Horrigan, chief of security, had said he would ask for 10 persons to investigate an average of 10 cases a week of ticket theft from sales agents and about 100 fraud cases a week.

But at Friday's meeting he asked for only two or three. A commission spokesman said Horrigan intends eventually to build a larger staff.

Stokes Mum On Lawsuit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— U.S. Rep. Louis Stokes, D—Ohio, who faces a court test of his residency here, refused Sunday to say where in the 21st District he lived.

"You don't think I'm going to answer a question when I'm involved in a lawsuit, do you," he told a reporter asking for his address.

A suit was filed Friday in U.S. District Court here by Stokes' Republican opponent in the Nov. 5 election, William Mack. Mack charges Stokes does not live in Ohio as required by the Constitution and should be disqualified.

The suit alleges that Stokes never has lived at 3544 E. 110th St., the address the congressman lists on voter registration rolls. A hearing on the suit is scheduled Wednesday.

The owner of the two-family house on E. 110th, Mrs. Redus Brown, said Stokes never has lived there but his mother lived there nine years before moving away in August.

'Exceptional Children' Instructor Society Program

Beta Rho Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society met Wednesday evening at the Lutheran Church parlor.

Mrs. Robert Scranton conducted the business meeting. Members answered roll call by naming the greatest aid in the classroom or in the home. Mrs. Fred Engle read an invitation to a November luncheon meeting at Lake White Club as guests of the Waverly Chapter.

Members accepted the recommendation of the scholarship committee that a Beta Rho Memorial be established in memory of Mrs. Gloria Gabriel, Mrs. Helen Dowler and Mrs. Kathleen Bush. The recipient for this quarter will be Debbie Krahn who is a sophomore in the college of education at the Ohio State University.

All new teachers in the county were invited to attend this meeting. Guests were Connie Schwartz, Eileen Shaul, Susan Mathiason, Joyce Ankrom, Jo Ann Reisinger, Cathy Wine, Marsha Dumm, Janet Martin, Karen Adkins, Eleanor Bowers, Phyllis Born, Darlene McClurg, Jo Ann Weidemaier, Gail Koonce, Sharon Alford, Sue Barnhill, Debra Snell, Juanita Jahngien, and Beth Rabb.

Mrs. Leora Sayre, home trainer for the Pickaway County Trainable Mentally Retarded and Mrs. Patricia Southward, psychologist for the Circleville City Schools presented a program entitled "Exceptional Children."

Mrs. Sayre said that the mentally retarded child may be found in any family regardless of wealth or occupation. Many factors are considered in working with the mentally retarded child such as IQ (intelligence quotient), DQ (developmental quotient), and SQ (social quotient.) The family can either "panic or plan."

Great strides have been made in working with the mentally retarded. Mrs. Sayre closed by saying that it is through the understanding of all men that we will have true equality of education for all children. The mentally retarded child should have the same opportunities as any other child. Find the potential and then channel it.

Mrs. Southward spoke about another exceptional child — the gifted child. She listed several characteristics that might indicate a gifted child. These were a high intelligence quotient, early maturation, good reasoning power, deep insight, a good vocabulary, high degree of organization and a wide range of interests. At the present time the amount of federal money designated for programs for the gifted is limited. Guidelines have been formulated by the State Department of Education and they are now awaiting legislative funds. Mrs. Southward stated that we will be seeing progress in this area in the near future.

Beta Rho members present were Mrs. O'Dell Baker, Mrs. Arthur Beatty, Mrs. Lewis Brevard, Mrs. Lois Brobst, Mrs. Fred Engle, Mrs. Ellis Evans, Mrs. Wayne Evans, Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, Mrs. Ethel Grooms, Mrs. Van Meter Hulse, Mrs. Harry Kern,

Mrs. Richard Koch, Mrs. J. M. Lovensheimer, Mrs. George McGhee, Miss Betty Melton, Miss Helen Mettler, Miss Amy Miga, Mrs. Lawrence Miga, Mrs. Loren Neff, Mrs. Ben Nothstine, Mrs. Bobby Ogle, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. E.E. Porter, Mrs. Donald Price, Mrs. Claude Sayre, Mrs. Charles Schieber, Mrs. James Scott, Mrs. James G. Scott, Mrs. Earl Smith, Miss Ann Short, Miss Patricia Strous, Mrs. Robert Tacy, Mrs. Dick Tootle, Mrs. Charles Towler, and Mrs. D. R. Wylie.

Pumpkin Soup, Ice Cream Treats For Halloween

Sculpting a jack-o-lantern out of a pumpkin is only half the fun at Halloween. What to do with the pumpkin's innards? The state of the economy at this time dictates the meat of the orange colored fruit not be discarded.

First thoughts are of pumpkin pie or bread but there will be plenty of that as the season rolls toward Thanksgiving. Why not try pumpkin soup, a creamy, subtle meal-starter held in regard by Australians or ice cream which tastes like pumpkin pie.

For the soup, cook the pumpkin meat in a minimum of water for 15 minutes. Combine two cups of milk, a bay leaf, two thin slices of onion and a couple of parsley sprigs and bring to a boil. Strain this into pumpkin and add a half teaspoon of sugar and a pinch of grated nutmeg. Cook two tablespoons of quick-cooking tapioca in one cup of chicken stock until tender. Add to soup. Then add one cup of scalded heavy cream. Bring the soup to a boil before serving.

For the ice cream fresh pumpkin may be used but it is not as dependable for true pumpkin flavor as commercially canned.

The ice cream recipe by Cecily Brownstone follows: 3 cups heavy cream, 1-3 cup dark corn syrup, 1 cup solid pack pumpkin, 2 tsp. pumpkin pie spice, ¼ tsp. salt.

In a medium saucepan stir together 1½ cups of the cream and remaining ingredients. Over medium heat, stirring constantly, bring to a boil; cook; stir in the remaining 1½ cups cream. Pour into a 2-quart mixing bowl and freeze until partially set. Beat until fluffy. Cover and freeze until firm before serving. Scoop into sherbet or parfait glasses. Makes about 1½ quarts.

The most expensive dress ever sold by a Paris couturier was one by Pierre Balmain to a non-European royal personage for $11,250 in 1971.

Women Of St. Philip's Ready Annual Country Store

Women of St. Philip's Episcopal Church are completing months of work preparing articles to sell at the annual Country Store to be held on Nov. 15th in the Parish Hall, 129 W. Mound St. The store will be open from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. with lunch served from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m.

The menu will consist of the old favorites: homemade noodles and chicken, hot chicken sandwiches, jon marzetti, rolls, tossed salad, cake and coffee or tea.

Highlight of the day will be drawing winning numbers in the raffle for a handmade afghan and two pinecone wreaths.

After an absence of several years from items for sale will be old-fashioned homemade mincemeat, using the recipe of the late Mrs. Frank Davis. Orders may be made by contacting Mrs. James Capper, 474-5258 or Mrs. Chuck Scheiman, 474-5990.

Some of the articles offered for sale are: home baked treats, tote bags, angels and cardinals to be used in holiday decorating, treasures and trivia, serendipity, and in the Christmas shop there will be handmade stockings, wooden tree ornaments made by youth of the church and many other objects for use during the Christmas holidays.

In consideration of shoppers all sales will be in the Parish Hall this year and none in the basement.

Each person brought a sack lunch and coffee and tea were prepared by Jenny Eccard, Pauline Jones, Blanche Kerns and Helen Weidman. Table prayer was offered by Pauline Jones. Ray Beery received a door prize.

Birthday hostesses for the day were Lida Ross and Helen Weidman and greeters were Pauline Jones and Blanche Kerns.

The business meeting was conducted by Blanche Kerns. Happy birthday was sung to Frances Pritt, Anna Hedges, Pauline Jones, Lucille Terry, Alton Stonerock, Trilba Yaple, Mildred Koch, Eva Heffelfinger and Lida Ross.

Twyla Lorentz thanked everyone who had helped at the Senior Citizens' Hospitality Center during Pumpkin Show. She said 65 buses had been in Circleville and 2200 people had visited the center.

Members were reminded that if they are over 62 years of age they are entitled to vote an absentee ballot at the Nov. 5th election. This must be requested in writing immediately as all ballots must be in the hands of the Election Board several days before Nov. 5th. Applications may be made by calling the center, 474-4916. Any disabled or shutin who wants to vote at home must call the Election Board, 474-1100.

Members were invited to take advantage of a Christmas decoration workshop series beginning Nov. 13th and continuing once a week for four weeks. The class will be given by Twyla Leist and Betty Heffner and will be held at the home of Mrs. Leist, 360 Watt St. Nominal charges will be made for the materials and instructions. Registration must be made by Oct. 30th by calling 474-2614 or 983-3009 or the Senior Center, 474-4916.

Some seats are still available on a bus to Eastland Shopping Center Oct. 30th. Call 474-4916 for reservations.

Blanche Kerns introduced the candidates for election on Nov. 5th. Each candidate spoke briefly and distributed literature.

The Ohio Commission on Aging is sponsoring a TV show 4:30 p.m., Nov. 3rd, on channel 34 entitled "On Aging." It will show activities in Senior Centers throughout the state and tell of services available to the elderly through other agencies. Mike Lorentz is producer-director for WOSU-TV. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Lorentz of Circleville.

The Forever Young Kitchen band entertained with many old favorites. Lucille Scott gave a reading entitled "The Old Country Church," with a musical background by Ray Beery. They concluded the program with "God Bless America" and all joined in praying "The Lord's Prayer."

Open Fraud Probe Of $38 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Franklin County Prosecutor George Smith confirmed Sunday his office has begun a "thorough investigation which will probably last several months" of a suspected $38 million securities fraud.

Smith said the county grand jury began Friday looking into "possible criminal activities" and said the case "probably" will involve some state officials, since "the issues were approved by the state."

The probe stems from a civil suit filed in federal court last November by Columbus attorney Robert Perrin. The suit alleges that about 6,000 rural Ohio residents were bilked out of more than $38 million and seeks an additional $33 million in punitive and exemplary damages.

State Commerce Director Dennis Shaul and three of his subordinates had been included among 52 defendants in the suit, but Judge Carl Rubin last week removed them from the list,

L.A. Harbor Plan Aired

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Harbor Department plans to present proposals to Standard Oil of Ohio this week that call for spending at least $50 million in hopes of luring tankers carrying Alaskan oil to the lower 48.

Long Beach Harbor is also working on plans to make their waters deeper to accommodate the massive tankers at an estimated cost of $20 million. But the Los Angeles plan is expected to be the first formal proposal. Sohio controls 52 per cent of the oil that will be shipped south when the Alaska pipeline is completed in 1977.

Fred B. Crawford, general manager of the Los Angeles Harbor, says a decision must be reached in 90 days to get facilities ready in time. Al Dorris, manager of Sohio's transportation department, said his company has had discussions with all West Coast ports, none of which is currently capable of handling the 150,000 to 170,000 ton tankers that will carry most of the Alaska oil. He said he anticipates receiving the Los Angeles proposal this week.

Extensive dredging in the Los Angeles harbor would be required to create the 65-foot minimum depth required. The maximum channel depth now is 51 feet.

Taft Seeks Expanded Ohio Probe

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr. was to announce today that he is seeking expansion of a federal investigation into the Ohio Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Taft, in remarks prepared for news conferences at Cincinnati and Dayton, said the probe involves alleged kickbacks and misuse of funds.

He blamed the problems on "flagrant irresponsibility" by State Auditor Joe Ferguson and added "this is the kind of slipshod Ohio government auditing we can well do without."

The probe, Taft said, began with Youngstown-Canton BVR operations. He said irregularities there, dating back to 1972 prompted his call for an investigation in August by the General Accounting Office.

He is asking that the probe now be extended to Dayton, Cincinnati and Columbus.

The BVR supervises programs teaching trades to the physically handicapped.

"A probe by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has found other evidence of bad bookkeeping, advance payments for client transportation with no guarantees for proper use, referrals of some physically and mentally handicapped for training in skills for which there is no market and training for some who are ineligible to receive the services," Taft charged.

Rain, Snow Hit Southwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wind and hail hit Texas today as rain and snow spread over much of the Southwest.

Wind gusts of 43 miles per hour swept through Amarillo, Tex., and hail the size of golfballs bounced on Sheffield, Tex.

Snow fell in the Cascade and Sierra mountain ranges. An inch of rain soaked Red Bluff, Calif.

Frost was expected in Arizona and the Northeast was unseasonably cold. But temperatures in the 50s reached as far north as Minnesota.

Showers spotted the Mississippi Valley and Florida, but fair weather was the rule from the Atlantic Coast to the Mississippi and in the northern plains.

Temperatures ranged from 17 at Massena, N.Y., to 75 at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

High School Memories Captured In Yearbook

By CINDY BEATTIE

With another school year, come new memories and activities; and it is the goal of the yearbook staff to capture them in photos and words.

Mrs. Bendycki is the yearbook advisor for the 1975 Viking. The staff meets weekly. Starting late this summer, they have been selling ads for the 1975 annual.

girls' sports, Regina Bluck; organizations, Diana Greenlee; activities editor, Gale Warner; head photographer, Cindy Beattie.

Assistants are: assistant classes editors, Cindy Kraft and Robin Ervin; assistant faculty editor, Gale Warner; assistant organizations editor, Sharon Ramey, assistant photographers, Mary White, Mark Spangler, Sherry Sayre, Gale Warner, and Peggy Derflinger.

The recent arrival of the '74 Viking was met with wide approval, and orders for the '75 Viking yearbook will be taken very soon.

Kathy Lawrence, assistant to the editor, said of the new staff, "I think we've got some people who are really willing to work, and we're looking forward to an even better yearbook this year."

Patterson Handles Tardiness

ROGER PATTERSON

By CINDY BEATTIE

Those students who find it impossible to get to school on time ultimately meet Roger Patterson, the new assistant principal at Teays Valley.

Patterson, who has been teaching at TV for several years lives with his wife, Karen, and their three-year-old daughter, Jeanette, at Route 2, Ashville. He also teaches Algebra II and advanced math.

As assistant principal, his duties include attendance records and taking care of minor disciplinary problems.

He stated that he enjoys teaching more than his duties as assistant principal because, "In teaching, you can see more positive results."

Patterson, who graduated from Dartmouth College, recently completed earning his masters degree from Ohio State.

Last year Patterson was named "Outstanding Young Educator."

FFA Chapter Has Campout

The Teays Valley FFA Chapter held an overnight campout instead of their regular meeting at school.

Don Quillen permitted the boys to use his pond and other facilities so the members could go swimming and fishing. A few of the members and the advisor did some motorcycling through the woods and fields.

The members built a big bon-fire and roasted hot dogs for supper, along with potato chips and pop. The snacks were ended with roasting marshmallows.

A short meeting was held at which they discussed buying the army truck purchased by the high school.

Everybody then hit the sack for a good night's sleep outside along the pond banks.

With the hot coals left from the fire, breakfast was made. Breakfast over, it was time to roll up the sleeping bags and head for home after a night full of fun.

Student Tutoring Proves Successful

By ESTILL SALYERS

Junior and senior students of Teays Valley are involved in a program to help the slow learners in the lower grades. The program is headed by Mrs. Juanita Jannigan, the school psychologist, and Mrs. Judy Roush. The program has been in effect for two previous years at Teays Valley.

The program is good for students who are planning a teaching career and for members of The Future Teachers of America. It will give them an idea of what kind of problems they may expect. Mrs. Jannigan feels the program is "a great asset and help to the kids."

The tutors spend time going over math, English, and other areas where other students are having trouble.

Many of the tutored children's problems stem from neglect at home, mental blocks, and reading inability. Most of the students have shown improvements in their work since the tutoring program began.

Mrs. Roush said, "I am really pleased with the kind of work that the tutors are doing. I feel that it is great for them to give up some of their spare time to help those students who are having trouble in school."

The program is worth one-half of a high school credit to the student tutors. The group holds a weekly session to discuss progress of each tutor's student, problems of the students, and other trouble spots the student tutors are having.

Work Adjustment, which is a work-study program.

In this program, the students have some classes in which their instructor, Richard Groff, teaches them. They have regular classes and work in the school or get a job away from school. Groff teaches ninth grade math, world geography, and biology.

To be in OWA, you must be 14 to 15½ years old. Groff has 15 freshmen, 14 work at school and one away. He has 14 sophomores, three work at school and 11 work away.

A student can be in OWA for two years and then he goes into the regular school activities. They get paid for working, too.

The main purpose for OWA is to get the students to come to school, to improve their grades, and to change their attitudes.

Can the quality of life improve without more energy?

The American ideal is a better quality of life for all people.

To achieve this we must have more jobs, better housing, a cleaner environment.

Reaching these goals will call for greater supplies of energy than we have now.

Very little can be accomplished without energy.

More gas, oil, clean-burning coal, electrical generating capacity are needed if we are to build a better quality of life for every citizen.

The energy crisis facing America threatens to stall the progress of all elements of society . . . to keep things just as they are. This may be fine for some people, but it's hard on many others who strive for a better life.

Having the energy to improve life requires the cooperation of government, the energy industries, environmental and consumer groups and the public. Agreements must be reached so that more wells can be drilled onshore and off, pipelines built, coal mined and generating stations built. Without these and similar energy development efforts, progress for everyone stops. To have a better America, we must have more energy.

Columbia Gas is working to help solve the energy crisis. Natural gas, cooled to 260 degrees below zero, becomes a liquid that occupies only one six-hundredth the space it does as a gas, and can be transported in special tankers. Importing liquefied natural gas from overseas is one of the dramatic new sources of gas in which Columbia is investing millions of dollars.

COLUMBIA GAS

Gas is precious, pure energy . . . use it wisely.

Magazine Sale Looks Promising

By SUZI HEISEL and PATTY BECKETT
The results of the annual ten-day sophomore magazine sale are in and look very promising.

Sophomores, Class of '77, came in second in selling out of all the other years. Last year's sophomores were the Number One sellers. The total for this year's class was $5,328.13. The first day of the sale was the best out of the ten, with a high total of $2,222.11. This year's first day total was the highest of all the other years.

For the rest of the nine days the totals were: $611.33, $135.16, $316.99, $313.16, $311.32, $391.36, $247.88, $534.30, and the last day $244.52. This totaled $5,328.13.

Perri Martin, Mike Smith, Warren Hoffman, Tami Wells, Theresa Williams, Linda Ball, Theresa Bartholic, Tim Tosca, Wesley Hedges, and Clifford Broach were the ten best sellers in the sophomore class.

TV Bowling League Begins

By RACHEL SWANK
The Teays Valley Bowling League had their first meeting on October 2. It was headed by Mrs. Viet. The league bowled their first game on Oct. 9. A team is composed of four. There are 16 teams with a total of 75 students. Bowling is every Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Prairie Lanes in Circleville.

There are two separate sections to the bowling league. The first section consists of the people who bowled last year. They set the teams up with two boys and two girls. The second section is mostly new league members and are in any combinations.

In April the bowling league will have a banquet and award trophies. There will be team trophies, individual high score, highest series and most improved. The league will have a bake sale or another money making project to make the banquet a bigger feast. At Christmas the seniors will participate in a tournament.

The officers of the leagues are, president, Becky Ward; vice president, Karen Sowers; treasurer, Joe Joseph, and secretary, Amy Stewart.

"WE'RE ON THE ENERGY TEAM!"

At our plant we're saving energy several ways. A lot of us are car-pooling. We keep lights turned off when they're not really needed. We adjust the air conditioning and the heat a few degrees. And we're saving fuel oil with better insulation on the hot water pipes.

We're getting more customers lately for tuneup jobs. I think people are doing everything they can to use less gasoline. Most of them are driving less, driving slower, keeping engines tuned, buying smaller cars, using the air conditioning less. And oil companies are drilling hundreds more wells this year than last in an effort to close the gap between energy supplies and energy needs.

Meanwhile there's still a big job to do—let's keep working together

Top College Grid Teams Post Victories

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Although the college football season has been chock full of upsets, the status seems to be quo in most of the major conference races.

To be sure, Texas A&M leads the Southwest Conference, Maryland tops the Atlantic Coast Conference, Yale and Harvard share the Ivy League lead and surprising VMI heads the Southern Conference, but elsewhere the old, old standbys are still in the driver's seat.

Ohio State, the No. 1 team in The Associated Press ratings, and No. 3 Michigan are atop the Big Ten and heading toward another showdown Nov. 23 while the same holds true in the Southeastern Conference, where fourth-ranked Alabama, 3-0, and No. 5 Auburn, 2-0, tangle Nov. 29.

Oklahoma, runner-up nationally, is the only unbeaten team in the Big Eight; sixth-ranked Southern California, despite a sluggish start, is leading the Pacific-8; Arizona State, 14th nationally, is No. 1 in the Western Athletic Conference; Miami of Ohio, rated 19th, tops the Mid-American Conference; San Diego State heads the Pacific Coast Athletic Association and Tulsa leads the Missouri Valley. All won or shared their conference titles last year.

In weekend action, Ohio State buried Northwestern 55-7 as Archie Griffin ran for 173 yards on 19 carries and tied the alltime college record of rushing for 100 yards or more in 17 consecutive regular-season games set by Oklahoma's former Heisman Trophy-winner, Steve Owens.

Steve Davis and Joe Washington led Oklahoma to a 35-0 half-time bulge over Kansas State and the Sooners demolished the Wildcats 63-0, their second triumph this season by that score.

Gil Chapman scored twice and Rob Lytle and Gordon Bell combined for 289 yards on the ground in leading Michigan to its seventh consecutive Little Brown Jug triumph over Minnesota, this one by a 49-0 count.

Robert Fraley and Jack O'Rear, subbing for two injured quarterbacks, led Alabama to a 41-3 rout of Texas Christian while Phil Gargis passed for two scores and ran for another as Auburn belted Florida State 38-6.

For a change, the upsets were few and far between as the first 15 teams in the rankings all won.

Sixth-ranked Southern California whipped Oregon State 31-10, No. 7 Notre Dame crushed Miami of Florida 38-7 and No. 8 Texas A&M blanked Baylor 20-0.

But it wasn't easy for all the survivors. Ninth-rated Nebraska needed a fumble recovery at its own one-yard line and an interception at the 14 in the final 3½ minutes to turn back Oklahoma State 7-3.

Tenth-ranked Penn State turned a blocked field goal attempt into a gift touchdown and went on to defeat West Virginia 21-12. And No. 11 Texas Tech blocked a punt in the final period that led to the winning touchdown in a 20-17 victory over Southern Methodist.

Texas, ranked 13th, trounced Rice 27-6 and No. 14 Arizona State whipped New Mexico 41-7. In the only meeting of ranked teams, No. 15 Maryland trimmed No. 17 North Carolina State 20-10.

Besides N.C. State, three other members of the Second Ten went down to defeat — Arizona, Tulane and California.

No. 16 Arizona was swamped by Brigham Young 37-13 as Gary Sheide threw for five touchdowns and the BYU defense intercepted five passes. Rudy Allen, a diabetic, led Georgia Tech to three first-half scores before being forced out of the game by his illness and the Yellow Jackets went on to defeat previously unbeaten Tulane 27-7.

Rounding out the Top Twenty, Rob Carpenter ran for 181 yards and three touchdowns as No. 19 Miami of Ohio downed Toledo 38-22 but No. 20 California fell to UCLA 28-3 as Brain quarterback John Sciarra threw a long touchdown pass and ran for another score in the first half before suffering a broken ankle.

In addition to equaling Owens' record for consecutive 100-yard games, Ohio State's Griffin became the first Buckeye to rush for more than 1,000 yards in two successive seasons. He hit the 100-yard mark in the first half and scored on an 11-yard run before leaving the contest midway through the third period.

The Buckeyes rolled up 441 rushing yards and completed six of seven passes for 105 more.

The list of unbeaten-untied teams is down to seven — Alabama, Auburn, Michigan, Ohio State, Oklahoma, Temple and Yale. Miami of Ohio and Penn are unbeaten but once-tied while Hawaii, Princeton and Tulane suffered their first setbacks Saturday. Columbia, Davidson and Southwestern Louisiana posted their first victories while Florida State, Rice, Texas-Arlington, Utah, Wake Forest and Wichita State still are seeking that elusive first triumph.

Pat Costello Wins

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Pat Costello of Oklahoma City, Okla., captured the $30,000 Canton Classic bowling tournament Sunday night by averaging 238 for the 18-game finals.

She notched her fifth Professional Women Bowlers Association title of the year by 78 pins over Barbara Renner of Mayfield Heights, Ohio, 4,295 to 4,217.

Cards Edge Redskins, 23-20

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

After Sunday's 23-20 success over the Washington Redskins, the St. Louis Cardinals still look like supermen in the National Football League. It was the seventh straight victory for the irresistible Birds, the only unbeaten team in the NFL.

"The Cardinals are a big-play team," acknowledged Washington quarterback Sonny Jurgensen. "They made the big plays."

Two of the biggest plays made by the Cardinals were touchdown passes by Jim Hart to Earl Thomas and Donny Anderson. It was no easy task, considering that the Redskins are one of the top defenders against the pass.

"The biggest thing was giving me time to get rid of the ball," said Hart, having an extravagant season for the Cardinals. "Our offensive line did a fantastic job."

Hart, who has been hot and cold throughout his NFL career, is currently hot — the precise reason that the Cardinals are flying so high these days.

While improving their sparkling record, the Cardinals tightened their hold on the National Conference's Eastern Division while the Redskins dropped further down the ladder with a 4-3 record. The Redskins, off to their worst start under Coach George Allen, remained tied for second place with the Philadelphia Eagles, a 14-10 loser to the New Orleans Saints.

In the other NFL games, the Los Angeles Rams beat the New York Jets 20-13; the New England Patriots defeated the Minnesota Vikings 17-14; the Buffalo Bills trimmed the Chicago Bears 16-6; the Miami Dolphins stopped the Baltimore Colts 17-7; the Oakland Raiders whipped the San Francisco 49ers 35-24; the Houston Oilers upset the Cincinnati Bengals 34-21; the Cleveland Browns stunned the Denver Broncos 23-21; the Dallas Cowboys downed the New York Giants 21-7; the Detroit Lions nudged the Green Bay Packers 19-17 and the Kansas City Chiefs turned back the San Diego Chargers 24-14.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, leaders in the American Conference's Central Division, meet the Atlanta Falcons tonight in the weekly televised game.

Rams 20, Jets 13

Lawrence McCutcheon scored two touchdowns 31 seconds apart in the fourth quarter to power the Rams over the Jets. New York led 13-6 going into the fourth quarter before McCutcheon scored the gamewinning points for Los Angeles, the NFC's Western Division leader.

Patriots 17, Vikings 14

Jim Plunkett threw a 10-yard scoring pass to Bob Windsor with three seconds left to give New England a dramatic victory over Minnesota. Plunkett led the Patriots on an 86-yard drive in the closing minutes. A 55-yard pass from Plunkett to Randy Vataha, his onetime teammate at Stanford, set up the winning score.

Bills 16, Bears 6

Substitute Larry Watkins ran one yard for a touchdown and John Leypoldt kicked three field goals to propel Buffalo past Chicago. Buffalo's O. J. Simpson was held to just 62 yards, one of his lowest days in the pros.

Dolphins 17, Colts 7

Benny Malone and Don Nottingham, a pair of little-used running backs, took charge in the second half and helped Miami beat Baltimore. Nottingham replaced injured fullback Larry Csonka late in the first half and scored on a two-yard plunge in the third period to give Miami a 10-7 lead. Malone roared 23 yards around left end late in the fourth period for the score that put the game away for the Dolphins.

Raiders 35, 49ers 24

Oakland turned two San Francisco fumbles into touchdowns, with rookie Harold Hart running 40 yards to score on one recovery, as the Raiders beat the 49ers.

Oilers 34, Bengals 21

Dan Pastorini's passes ripped apart Cincinnati's defense and Houston, a loser in 32 of the last 35 games, jumped on every Bengal mistake to pull off an upset.

Michigan, OSU Head To Showdown

By JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler couldn't be more explicit when he said, "This is just what we needed to propel us into the final weeks of the season. We needed to blow someone out."

That's exactly what the Michigan Wolverines did Saturday when they rambled over Minnesota 49-0 in their biggest show of offense this season.

"We played Stanford, Michigan State and Wisconsin at their best and were fortunate to win those games. It's good to get one like this."

The Michigan offense should continue in high gear from here on in as the Wolverines prepare for the inevitable Big Ten showdown against Ohio State.

The No. 1 ranked Ohio State Buckeyes, who have yet to be pressed this season, coasted over Northwestern 55-7 in still another awesome display of offense led by incomparable Archie Griffin.

Bobby Allison Posts Race Victory

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Bobby Allison made it from the hospital to the race track and victory in 24 hours.

It all happened at Riverside International Raceway during the weekend. And a two-day turnout of about 40,000 loved it all.

Allison, a 36-year-old stock car driver from Hueytown, Ala., was injured in a massive pile-up of cars shortly after the start of Saturday's second heat in the International Race of Champions series.

He spent a while in a Riverside hospital and didn't get to run in the race, won by two-time world champion Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil.

But he was back Sunday for the third heat, after spending the night on a heating pad nursing a hairline fracture in an upper vertebrae. Not only did he win his race but will be one of nine drivers who will go on to the final race at Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 14.

Penn State's football co-captains are halfback Jim Bradley of Johnstown, Pa., a premed student, and center Jack Baiorunos of Quincy, Mass., a premedical major.

Browns 23, Broncos 21

Quarterback Brian Sipe, who entered the game in the fourth quarter, scored two touchdowns to lead Cleveland to a come-from-behind victory over Denver. Sipe, making only his second appearance of the season replacing Mike Phipps, scored the winning touchdown with 1:56 remaining in the game.

Cowboys 21, Giants 7

Drew Pearson, the NFL's leading receiver, caught one TD pass and threw another to help the Cowboys beat the Giants.

Lions 19, Packers 17

Errol Mann, who had a 27-yard field goal blocked with 1:58 remaining, kicked a 41-yarder with nine seconds left to propel Detroit over Green Bay.

Chiefs 24, Chargers 14

Veteran Len Dawson combined with rookie Woody Green on a 67-yard scoring pass to trigger Kansas City past San Diego.

Saints 19, Eagles 10

Jess Phillips rammed over from four yards out with 1:10 left in the game to carry New Orleans over Philadelphia.

Most Grid Leaders Win

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— There's how the top-rated Ohio high school football teams in The Associated Press poll fared in weekend action:

Ali's Mom Sees End To Joking

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — Mama Odessa Clay says her boy, Cassius, always has been a joshing — even when he was a tyke beating everybody at marbles — but it's not good to cross him when he gets mad.

"He always was doing things to make people laugh but underneath he could be very moody and serious," added Mrs. Cassius Marcellus Clay, Sr., of Louisville, Ky.

"I think he is very serious now, in spite of all that spoofing you see in the ring. He wants to win bad. I think he will win."

Mrs. Clay, a pleasant, pillowy woman in her late fifties, and her husband, a dapper sign painter and commercial artist, have traveled to darkest Africa to see what looms as the climax of their son's tempestuous career.

They will be at ringside in Zaire's big soccer stadium at 4 a.m. local time Wednesday (10 p.m. EST Tuesday) when the handsome fighter they christened Cassius Marcellus, who has taken the Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, attempts to win back the heavyweight boxing championship which authorities stripped from him because he wouldn't go to war.

His foe is the reigning champion, George Foreman, a brutish monster of a man who has virtually destroyed every fighter he has faced the last three years.

Flint Generals Stop Dayton, 4-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The red-hot Flint Generals chalked up their fourth consecutive victory in the International Hockey League Sunday night, dropping Dayton 4-1 to tighten their hold on the North Division lead.

The Generals came alive in the second period, getting goals by Kevin Treacy, Kirk Bowman and Doug Manchak to take a commanding lead. Dwane Byers added a last-period goal for Flint, now 5-1-1, while only Herb Howdle could tally for Dayton, 2-2.

"A DELICIOUS DIVISION OF VAN-ORR FOODS"

Racers Top Nordiques

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It took a while, but the Indianapolis Racers are finally on the board. The Racers, a World Hockey Association expansion franchise, had lost their first five games of the season, and had not scored more than two goals in any of those outings. But Sunday night they put it all together, erupted for five goals and whipped the Quebec Nordiques 5-3.

Steve Andrascik scored one goal and assisted on two others for Indianapolis, which handed Quebec its first loss in five games.

"We deserved this victory," said Indianapolis goalie Andy Brown. "We're starting to play good hockey. We just outthrusted them and outthit them. Hockey isn't like football with a planned offense. You have to make your own breaks, and we did tonight."

Added Bob Sicinski, who had one of the Indianapolis goals: "We've been plugging along, and suddenly five different guys score. That shows we're starting to put it together."

Elsewhere in the WHA Sunday night, Winnipeg beat Michigan 5-2, Minnesota edged Chicago 6-5 in overtime and Toronto's game at Cleveland was postponed because of a failure in ice-making equipment.

N.Y. Nets Swamp St. Louis, 109-91

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer
The scores might go over the century mark most of the time, but any pro basketball coach will tell you defense is the key to victory.

"We have been playing our best defense in our last few games," said New York Nets' coach Kevin Loughery. "In our last couple of games, we had held teams to under 30 points at the half."

The Nets gave up only 37 points in the first half enroute to a 109-91 American Basketball Association victory over the Spirit of St. Louis. In the only other ABA action Sunday, Utah stopped San Diego 95-80.

In the National Basketball Association Sunday, Los Angeles defeated Phoenix 123-116 while Portland crushed Seattle 120-94.

Loughery said St. Louis mistakes and poor shooting can be attributed partly to inexperience, "but we have a quick defense and like to force those mistakes."

St. Louis was able to penetrate the Nets' defense for only 14 points in the second period while New York, behind Julius Erving, center Billy Paultz and forward Larry Kenon, rolled to a 60-37 advantage at halftime.

Erving ended up with 20 points and 13 rebounds to take game scoring honors. Rookie Marvin Barnes scored 24 points, high for St. Louis.

Guard Ron Boone fired in 17 points in the second half to lift the Utah Stars to victory. Boone wound up the night with 28 points, high for the game, while San Diego's Caldwell Jones had 20 points, including 14 in the last quarter.

Rookie Bill Walton dominated the backboards and John Johnson and Sidney Wicks provided the scoring punch for the Portland Trail Blazers. Johnson scored 14 points and pulled down seven rebounds in the first period of the nationally televised game.

The former University of Iowa star wound up with 28 points even though he sat out the final quarter. Wicks added 22 while Seattle's Fred Brown paced all scorers with 32.

The Los Angeles Lakers slapped a tight defense on Phoenix for the first five minutes of the third period, running off a 13-0 spurt to increase their advantage to 21 points.

Jim Price and Gail Goodrich tallied 27 points apiece for the Lakers while Charlie Scott got 18 for the Suns.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Backed by lots of hype, hoopla and promotional gas, Rhoda Morgenstern and boyfriend Joe finally get married tonight in a special one-hour "Rhoda" show on CBS.

The union may prove the highest-rated betrothal in TV history.

The show is importing from Minneapolis almost the entire cast of the "Mary Tyler Moore" show as wedding guests — Miss M., crusty Ed Asner, whimsical Gavin MacLeod, Cloris Leachman, the feline landlady, and George Engels, Ted Knight's dim, but lovely, girlfriend.

Alas, Ted won't be on hand, possibly because he laughs at weddings. Good Ted.

This wedding has a few laughs — or at least the prelims do — but 60 minutes is a long time to wait for occasional mirth. In the short form, "Rhoda" is crisply funny. In this form, it's a soggy, soggy do.

It starts with Rhoda—Valerie Harper—and Joe—David Groh—thinking of a quiet City Hall wedding. But as viewers know by now, Rhoda's mother—Nancy Walker, while tiny, is overbearing.

And she changes the wedding plans, of course. She tells Rhoda she'd like the wedding held at her apartment and in fact already has invited some people over for a get-together.

"Before or after the wedding, mother?" Rhoda asks.

Mom: During.

Mom: Not counting musicians — 79.

All this leads to predictable last-minute tumult, heightened by the arrival of Miss Moore and Miss Engels, who were expected, and Asner, MacLeod and Miss Leachman, who weren't.

The only really funny lines come from Carlton, the spacedout, never-seen doorman, and towards the end of the show from Rhoda, who is forced to take the subway to her wedding because of a friend's forgetfulness.

Most of the show seems strained, padded, or other. It's not up to the standards set in its previous 30-minute versions. After all the buildup, it seems a letdown.

"You're looking at somebody who's going to get an 'E' for effort in this marriage," Rhoda assures Joe the night before the big day.

Okay, we also give the show an "E" for effort, but no more.

Dave Davis Leading Tournament

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Dave Davis of Atlanta, Ga., held a slim lead in the $50,000 Canada Dry Open bowling tournament going into today's final two eight-game blocks of match play.

Davis, a 12-time Professional Bowlers Association champion but in a slump since early in 1970, won six of eight matches Sunday night to take a six-pin advantage over Earl Anthony of Tacoma, Wash.

U.S. Farm Exports Still Exceed Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The value of U.S. farm exports still is exceeding imports of foreign agricultural products by a wide margin, but government figures show the bulge has receded slightly from last year.

During July and August, says the Agriculture Department, farm exports totaled slightly more than $3.08 billion, up from about $2.7 billion during the same two months in 1973.

Meantime, according to USDA figures, imports of agricultural products in July and August totaled more than $1.75 billion, compared with more than $1.35 billion a year earlier.

The difference between exports and imports — a trade advantage for U.S. farm products — was about $15 million less during the two months this year than it was in July-August of 1973.

During all of last fiscal year, the 12 months ended last June 30, farm exports exceeded imports by about $11.8 billion. Exports totaled a record $21.3 billion and imports a record $9.5 billion.

Opening Statements Set In KSU Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — This week's agenda for the trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen indicted in the 1970 Kent State University shootings includes opening statements and a visit by the jury to the university campus.

U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti recessed the trial last Thursday and said it would not resume until Tuesday because of Veterans' Day today.

He said Tuesday would be taken up with opening statements by government and defense attorneys and that the jury would visit the campus Wednesday.

The parade of witnesses, expected to number 100 or more, probably will begin Thursday, Battisti said.

The trial was recessed after a jury of eight men and four women and six alternate jurors was seated following four days of examining about 60 prospects.

Attorney C. D. Lambros, who represents four of the defendants, said his opening presentation would take about an hour. Shorter statements are expected from Bernard J. Stuplinski, lawyer for three of the ex-guardsmen, and E. K. Wright, who represents the eighth defendant.

The opening statement of Robert Murphy, chief government attorney in the case, is expected to take nearly an

The department's Economic Research Service, in a monthly report, said import values of products competitive with U.S. production — including sugar, meat and dairy products — were up nearly 35 per cent from a year earlier during July and August.

Imports of noncompetitive products such as coffee, bananas and rubber were up 18 per cent from the same two months last year on the basis of value.

Most of the value increases of imports was due to higher prices, although quantities of some products also were up, the report said.

Sugar was a major factor in both instances. Nearly 1.2 million tons were imported during July and August, up 17 per cent from a year earlier.

Sugar prices rose even faster, putting the total July-August value of imports at $495 million, an increase of 181 per cent from their value of $176 million a year earlier.

hour. He is chief of the criminal section of the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Department of Justice.

At the university campus, the jurors will see where four students were killed and nine others wounded by National Guard troops on May 4, 1970.

A 13-second burst of gunfire erupted during a confrontation of the guardsmen and rock-throwing antiwar demonstrators. It ended four days of student protests of U.S. military involvement in Cambodia.

Judge Battisti told the jurors in his preliminary instructions that what they see on the campus will not be evidence in the trial.

"The evidence will be presented in this courtroom," he said, adding that the case must be decided on that evidence alone.

The defendants were indicted under federal civil rights statutes last March 29. They are charged with violating the rights of and assaulting and intimidating the students killed or wounded.

On trial are James D. McGee, 28, and Lawrence A. Shafer, 28, both of Ravenna; Ralph W. Zoller, 27, Mantua; Barry W. Morris, 30, Kent; Leon H. Smith, 27, Beach City; Matthew J. McManus, 28, West Salem; William E. Perkins, 28, Canton, and James E. Pierce, 30, Amelia Island, Fla.

Kissinger Seeks Accord With India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger called on India today to cooperate with international efforts to block the spread of nuclear weapons.

"We take seriously India's affirmation that it has no intention to develop nuclear weapons," he said in a carefully worded speech before the Indian Council of World Affairs. "But India of course has the capability to export nuclear technology. It, therefore, has an important role in this

Farm Income Rises Sharply For Ohioans

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Total cash receipts from farming in Ohio shot up 44 per cent to $2.27 billion last year, and soybeans took over undisputed first place as the top income source.

Net farm income for Ohio farmers more than doubled from $403.8 million to $811 million.

These 1973 figures from the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center here and the USDA Statistical Reporting Service were released through the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology at Ohio State University.

Total crop sales were just under $1.2 billion, up 67 per cent from the year earlier, while sale of livestock and livestock products totaled slightly less than $1.1 billion.

Cash receipts for soybeans soared to $547.5 million, up 110 per cent from 1972, while receipts from corn rose 85 per cent to $335.5 million.

Sale of cattle and calves returned $338.6 million. Dairy products returned $311.6 million, hogs $268.4 million and poultry and eggs, $129.8 million.

Darke County led in total cash receipts with $83 million. Next were Mercer, Fulton, Wood and Wayne counties, each topping the $56 million mark.

Soybeans were the top commodity in 39 of Ohio's 88 counties, cattle yielded the most receipts in 24 counties and dairying was the most important in 16 counties.

Leading counties by agricultural commodities were: Soybeans, Darke; cattle and calves, Fulton; corn, Wood; dairy products, Wayne; hogs, Clinton; poultry and eggs, Mercer; wheat, Wood; vegetables, Lorain; greenhouse and nursery crops, Lake.

Cash receipts represent gross returns from actual sale of crops and livestock. They do not include the value of commodities used on farms. The value of home consumption of farm commodities in 1973 is estimated at $32.3 million.

Publisher James Cox Dies At 71

MIAMI (AP) — James M. Cox Jr., the head of a nationwide communications empire that reached into newspaper publishing, entertainment and broadcasting, is dead at 71.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete after his death Sunday at St. Francis Hospital here following a two-month illness.

Cox was board chairman of Cox Enterprises newspaper publishing chain and Cox Broadcasting Corp. since the 1957 death of his father, James M. Cox. The elder Cox was a three-time governor of Ohio and the unsuccessful Democratic presidential candidate in the 1920 campaign against Warren G. Harding.

Cox expanded the empire founded by his father by acquiring and expanding broadcasting properties and diversifying into cable television, technical publishing and entertainment.

Cox Enterprises is the parent company of the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, Dayton, Ohio, Daily News and Journal Herald, Palm Beach, Fla., Post and Times, Miami News and the Springfield, Ohio, News and Sun.

Cox Broadcasting owns television stations in Pittsburgh, Pa., Atlanta, Dayton, Charlotte, N. C., and Oakland, Calif., and radio stations in Los Angeles, Dayton, Atlanta and Miami.

The broadcasting firm also is majority owner of Bing Crosby Productions and Cox Cable Corp., one of the nations, largest cable television operations and part of a phenomenon that Cox predicted would make the home television set "a communications terminal capable of sending as well as receiving intelligence."

Herbert Succumbs; Ex-Governor

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Thomas J. Herbert, former governor, Ohio Supreme Court justice and state attorney general, was to be buried in Lakeside Cemetery today, his 80th birthday.

Interment, with graveside services, followed a memorial service earlier in the day at Columbus.

Herbert died Saturday night in a nursing home in the Columbus suburb of Grove City following a long illness. He had been out of active politics since suffering a stroke March 21, 1961, while sitting on the Supreme Court bench.

A Republican, Herbert assumed his first elective post as state attorney general in 1939 and was elected to two more two-year terms.

In 1946 he upset incumbent Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, but was defeated in his bid for reelection by Lausche two years later.

Herbert remained out of the political scene until 1957 when he was elected to a six-year term on the Ohio Supreme Court.

Born in Cleveland on Oct. 28, 1894, Herbert attended Western Reserve University until he entered the Army during World War I and became a pilot.

He was shot down in aerial combat over France on Aug. 8, 1918, and received a leg wound that resulted in his hospitalization for the next 2½ years. The action brought a citation for "extraordinary heroism."

Herbert completed his law studies at Western Reserve in 1920 and was named an assistant law director in Cleveland. In 1922 he was appointed assistant Cuyahoga County prosecutor and served there through 1923.

After four years of private practice, Herbert became an assistant attorney general for the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and then served as special counsel to the attorney general from 1933 to 1937.

Survivors include two sons, Daniel of New York City and John D. Herbert, a former state treasurer, and two daughters, Rosemary Gills of Columbus and Metta Lewis of Naperville, Ill.

Herbert's first wife, the former Jeannette Judson of Cleveland, died in 1945 and his second wife, the former Mildred Stevenson of Indianapolis, Ind., died in 1962.

Wilmington Eligible For Flood Insurance

NEW YORK (AP) — The City of Wilmington, Ohio, has become eligible for flood insurance for residential and nonresidential properties by the National Flood Insurers Association for damage from flooding not covered in standard property insurance policies.

The new coverage is offered under the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973.

Police Apprehend Youths

Circleville Police are questioning four juveniles they chased from a house on N. Court and then caught several blocks away 5:17 a.m. Sunday.

Ptl. Ron Smith noticed a window open in the north side of a house at 722 N. Court St. owned by John Taylor.

While checking the first floor of the dwelling, he heard noises on the second. And, while walking up a stairway in the front of the house, he heard movement on the back stairway.

Running to another room and down the steps into the kitchen, Ptl. Smith spotted a juvenile going through a window. He gave chase, jumping from the window, but injured his left leg when he stepped in a hole outside.

Ptl. Jim Ford rounded up the four young people several blocks from the house.

Police also investigated three cases of vandalism during the weekend.

Anti-Cancer Drug Eyed At Meeting

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A group of Cincinnati scientists has been invited to the 11th International Cancer Congress this week in Rome, Italy to present a paper on a new anticancer drug.

The drug, called "Saccharomycin," is a variation on a drug group called procytoxin or PCO.

St. Thomas Institute of Cincinnati reported the drug helps protect the normal cells of patients undergoing chemotherapy for cancer.

"There are several compounds which will destroy cancer," said Dr. George S. Sperti, president of St. Thomas Institute. "But when used in quantity, such drugs have the 'slight' drawback of being likely to kill the patient as well."

Dr. Elton S. Cook and Dr. Leo G. Nutini spoke for other scientists on the project.

Dr. Cook said the drug has extended the life span of cancer-bearing laboratory animals, permitting longer treatment through its protection of the patient's normal cells.

One problem, however, is that Sperti and his colleagues say they are not exactly sure why it does what it does.

The drug inhibits division and therefore growth of tumor cells and it also protects the bone marrow of the patient from destruction by the cancer drug, Dr. Cook explained.

Nutini said recent tests have been concerned with trying to preserve the beneficial anticancer properties of the toxic drugs and to shed all the undesirable properties.

Nursing Homes To Get Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Welfare Director Charles Bates Sunday announced that nursing and rest homes in Ohio will receive at least $8.1 million more in fiscal year 1975 than in fiscal 1974 for the care of welfare patients.

Bates said the increase is the result of the reasonable cost payment method which became effective July 1 for the 943 facilities caring for about 27,000 welfare clients.

The increases range from $2.48 to $4.73 per patient per day for non-skilled nursing care and up to $5 for skilled nursing care. The state pays a minimum of $12.75 and maximum of $17 per patient day for non-skilled care and a minimum of $12.75 and maximum of $19 for skilled care.
